Project Description:

Kru Ann just came back in her family garden in the North Thailand. With her rich experience in eco farming and seeds collecting, she wishes to welcome volunteers to support her sustaining traditional agriculture practices and passing down valuable knowledge to interested people. Hug Baan Den Vegetable Garden spans approximately hectare and features a variety of products including longans, pomelo, bananas, and organic vegetables, all cultivated using traditional farming methods.

Work: Cultivate organic vegetables, harvest and store seeds, engage in cooking traditional Thai dishes and desserts using garden products, and participate in community cultural endeavors while also offering English learning opportunities for children.

Volunteers will engage in a range of community-centered initiatives, including collective farming endeavors like cultivating garlic and various crops. Contribute to English teaching sessions at a local school, collaborating with English-speaking educators. Take part in community and religious events, embracing Buddhist practices, and joining cultural festivities. Further strengthen community bonds through shared culinary experiences, crafting delectable dishes and desserts, as well as engaging in herbal activities alongside with community members.

Requirements: This project is for volunteers who are interested and willing to stay in a basic environment, exchange on organic agriculture, self-reliance, cooking and Thai traditional cultures. Volunteers should be ready to adapt to the Thai, local way of life, and willing to create relationships with volunteers friends, hosts and local people.

Food: We will cook and live together.

Accommodation: There's a private room available that can accommodate up to 2 people. The host provides simple bedding.

Pocket money: None

Insurance: Volunteers are responsible for their own insurance.

Fees: 312 EUR per month. The fee (12.000 B per month) will be used on one part for living expenses (gas, water, electricity, food) and materials used in projects/activities and for the other part to support financially our organization. Volunteers fee is our only income.

Visa: Participants should request a Non-Immigrant type visa at a Thai Embassy/ Consulate in their country. DaLaa will provide an invitation letter and officially registered paper for this.
